Little Calumet River East Branch Watershed Plan Education and Outreach

Save the Dunes coordinated target education and outreach activities to engage the public and stakeholders in the LCEB watershed management planning process. Save the Dunes held a minimum of two public meetings, which were publicized through press releases and e-mails. Save the Dunes designed, produced, and distributed at least one watershed outreach brochure, which included information about the LCEB watershed, nonpoint source pollution, and the watershed management effort. Save the Dunes submitted news releases about the development of the WMP and implementation projects to regional newspapers at least twice per year. Save the Dunes included information on the project in the Save the Dunes newsletter and on the Save the Dunes website and distributed it via e-mails. Save the Dunes participated in at least two conferences, workshops, or other educational events focusing on topics related to developing the LCEB WMP, such as watershed planning, monitoring, and BMPs. Save the Dunes educated the public and built partnerships with stakeholders by giving presentations to relevant groups and participated in a minimum of two community events annually. Public service announcements (PSAs) were aired on local radio stations.

RESULT: LCEB Watershed Plan information available to the public.
